

Linklaters elects Adrien Timmermans to partnership in Luxembourg

Linklaters in Luxembourg is pleased to announce the election of Adrien Timmermans to the partnership, effective 1 May 2026.

Adrien's promotion as a partner in the Investment Funds team marks another significant milestone in the continued growth of the Luxembourg office. It further strengthens the firm's capability to provide clients with tailored, high quality advice across the full spectrum of investment funds matters.

Adrien is a versatile practitioner who advises international clients on a broad range of fund structures and strategies. He focuses in particular on private equity, real estate, infrastructure, debt and venture capital funds. He acts for both sponsors and investors, supporting clients on fundraisings and bespoke investment solutions, as well as on their investments into target funds. His client base includes several leading international sponsors.

Alongside his client work, Adrien embodies Linklaters' culture and values, with a strong focus on people development and collaboration across the firm.

National Managing Partner, Nicki Kayser states:

“This well-deserved election reflects both Adrien’s individual excellence and the power of our global platform in supporting long-term development, collaboration and shared success.”
