Emile Weber : celebrating 150 years of innovation, sustainability and leadership

As Emile Weber celebrates its 150th anniversary, the company remains deeply committed to innovation, sustainability, and delivering advanced mobility solutions. With a strong legacy and a forward-looking vision, Emile Weber is ready to continue pioneering the future of transport.

In 2025, Emile Weber Group is celebrating a remarkable milestone, its 150th anniversary. Founded in 1875, this family-owned company has grown into a leader in sustainable mobility in Luxembourg and the Greater Region. With over 2.200 employees, Emile Weber continues to shape the future of transport, staying at the forefront of innovation while remaining deeply committed to its core values of quality, sustainability, and customer service.

In 2024, Emile Weber continued to lead with innovative projects that are shaping the future of transport. One key development was the partnership with Uber, which brought the Uber app to Luxembourg. This collaboration allows users to book WEBTAXI cars, providing more options for passengers and creating new opportunities for drivers in the region.

Emile Weber also made waves in the travel industry by investing in Swiss startup Twiliner, a company redefining overnight bus travel. Twiliner's state-of-the-art seats, which transform into comfortable beds, offer a sustainable and innovative alternative to traditional travel. In 2025, Emile Weber will introduce new routes across major European cities, allowing passengers to experience this revolutionary way of traveling while minimizing their carbon footprint.

Moreover, Emile Weber's partnership with Pony.ai is driving the future of autonomous mobility in Luxembourg. By integrating cutting-edge autonomous vehicle technology, the company is contributing to the evolution of smart, self-driving transport systems, further solidifying its leadership in sustainable mobility.

Emile Weber Group is advancing sustainable mobility through fast-charging infrastructure and ongoing team training, supported by its renewed CSR certification. Leadership from Catherine Havé, Philippe Heinisch, and Emile Weber Jr. ensures the company adapts to industry changes while maintaining a family-oriented culture. Their hands-on leadership strengthens connections with employees and drives the company forward. The group is also expanding its tourism activities, particularly with DayTrip offerings for young travelers. With a seamless transition to the sixth generation, Emile Weber continues to honor its legacy while embracing future opportunities.
