PwC Luxembourg recognised as the winner of 2026 Microsoft Country Partner of the Year for Luxembourg

PwC Luxembourg has been recognised with a Microsoft Country Partner of the Year Award for the second consecutive year, building on its 2025 recognition as Microsoft Country Partner of the Year in Luxembourg. The company was honoured for demonstrating excellence in innovation and business implementation of AI and cloud-based solutions leveraging Microsoft technology. This is in addition to PwC winning this year Microsoft's Global Advisory and Consulting Services Partner of the Year as well as EMEA System Integrator of the Year, amongst others.

The Microsoft Country Partner of the Year Award is the highest global recognition a Microsoft partner can receive, recognising one organisation per country for exceptional innovation, customer impact, and leadership in advancing Microsoft Cloud, GenAI and other technologies. PwC Luxembourg's recognition reflects its work helping organisations turn GenAI and Cloud investment into tangible business outcomes across Banking, Asset & Wealth Management, Insurance, Alternatives, operational companies, and European institutions.

Central to this work is the PwC Luxembourg GenAI Business Center, developed in close collaboration with Microsoft. It brings together PwC's industry, technology, change and regulatory expertise with Microsoft's AI and technology solutions, helping clients move from exploration to execution and build the foundations for increasingly AI-enabled organisations.

François Mousel, Managing Partner at PwC Luxembourg, said:

"We are delighted to be recognised for a second consecutive year. At PwC Luxembourg, we are committed to contributing to the future competitiveness of our country by working alongside businesses, institutions, and the wider ecosystem. Microsoft is a strategic partner in that journey, and together we are helping organisations harness AI and digital transformation to innovate, grow and create lasting value. »

Patrice Witz (LU), Microsoft Alliance Lead and Partner at PwC Luxembourg, said:

"Being recognised for a second consecutive year reinforces a conviction we see every day with our clients: the challenge is no longer simply to experiment with AI, but to turn it into measurable business value. Technology is essential to this transformation, but its full value comes from combining it with industry expertise, governance, regulatory insight and the ability to transform businesses at scale. Together with Microsoft, we are helping clients make that transition from experimentation to implementation and sustainable value. Our Global Advisory and Consulting Services and EMEA System Integrator of the Year recognitions further demonstrate the strength and breadth of that collaboration." ?

Pierre-Adrien Grange Country Manager, Microsoft Luxembourg said:

?"We are proud to recognise PwC Luxembourg as Microsoft Partner of the Year for the second consecutive year in Luxembourg. This award reflects what our partnership is ultimately about: bringing together technology and deep industry expertise to help organisations move from AI exploration to execution and deliver tangible business outcomes."?

The Microsoft Partner of the Year Awards celebrate partners delivering exceptional customer outcomes through Microsoft Cloud, AI, services and devices. This year's winners and finalists were selected from more than 4,500 nominations submitted worldwide across a diverse range of categories and geographies.

"Congratulations to the winners and finalists of the 2026 Microsoft Partner of the Year Awards, said Nicole Dezen, Chief Partner Officer, and Corporate Vice President at Microsoft. This year's honourees are harnessing the power of Microsoft Cloud and AI to deliver transformative solutions, accelerate customer success, and expand what's possible. Their ingenuity and impact inspire us, demonstrating what can be achieved when bold vision and technology come together to empower organisations around the world."??
