e-TIC, new member of LU-CIX

LU-CIX is pleased to welcome e-TIC as its newest member, marking a significant milestone as the first company to join under LU-CIX's brand new "Extra-Small" membership package.

Founded in 2015, e-TIC is a Luxembourg-based company offering expert consulting services in ICT infrastructure projects.

Its expertise covers all hardware communications needs linked to enterprise networks like wired and wireless accesses, internet security, VoIP/collaboration, etc.

With a strong advanced knowledge in Wi-Fi, e-TIC has been a key player in major wireless deployments across Luxembourg. For instance, with the public Free Wi-Fi network in all CFL train stations and buses, the whole Wi-Fi infrastructure at the Chamber of Commerce, and the House of Startups' complete wireless and wired cloud managed network.

"Joining LU-CIX is a strategic step for me to integrate further into the Luxembourg ICT ecosystem. The Extra-Small membership package is a great opportunity for small enterprises like mine to demonstrate small does not mean less. I can fully play a key role at strategic levels in the Luxembourg ICT community, since I already deployed and managed large-scale infrastructures by myself..." states Hervé COLLIGNON, CEO & founder of e-TIC Consultic.

"As a well-known partner who during several years helped us make available and secure the Luxembourg Internet Days event venue Wi-Fi network, Hervé Collignon, the founder of e-TIC Consultic, has largely proved that small companies have great talents, the flexibility and the expertise to face and react to all kinds of situations. We are delighted to have him joining the LU-CIX community" states Frédérique Ulrich, Director of LU-CIX ASBL.
